Mrs. L. A. Stubblefield Hostess to Guests on Anniversary Event.

Mrs. L. A. Stubblefield entertained at luncheon today in honor of her birthday. She received her guests in a stunning imported gown of black lace and jet over black chiffon and silk. They were Mrs. Jules Guthrie, Mrs. Robert N. Harper, Mrs. Lewis Smith, Mrs. R. D. Jackson, Mrs. A. H. Attwood, and the Jacksons, Mrs. Preston, and Mrs. Chandler. The decoration of the table and dining room were all of pink.

Mrs. Chandler, wife of Commander Lloyd H. Chandler, U. S. N., entertained at a delightful afternoon tea today in honor of Mrs. Robinson. The parlors were prettily decorated with pink roses and ferns, and Mrs. Chandler received her guests in a modish gown of white crepe de chine.

Assisting Mrs. Chandler in the receiving line were Mrs. Edson, her mother, Mrs. Bell, and Mrs. Dunn. Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Fields, Mrs. Williams, and Mrs. Preston presided in the dining room and served tea, chocolate, punch, and frappe.

One of the smartest of the season's many dances was that last evening of the "Benedictines," the newest cotillon formed in society. It was given in Bauer's hall, and had a most distinguished company of guests, including Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Mrs. George Vanierbilt, of New York and Washington; Mrs. William Corcoran Eustis; Mrs. Robert Bacon; Mrs. F. A. Keep, Mrs. Ward Thorne, Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth, and Mrs. Henry Purdy. The decorations of the rooms were in exceeding good taste, palms and other foliage plants being the only growing things used. The dance was set for 10:30, which admitted the comfortable dinner parties preceding it.

Almost every member of the committee entertained at dinner, taking the guests to the cotillon. The Marine Band furnished the music, and after the guests assembled general dancing occupied the time until the midnight supper.

Immediately after this first supper the cotillon formed, and was led by Colonel Morrell. After this a second and final supper was served, at small tables. The favors were the most effective in the hall of any seen this season. They consisted of the most brilliant and beautiful stemmed paper flowers, painted Chinese fringed with peacock feathers, fragrant with perfume, silk bags in various colors, silk bags of all nations, gayly colored silk and crepe de chine scarves, pin cushions, sashes in different colors, and brilliant rosettes with long ends of tinsel.

Mr. and Mrs. William Corcoran Eustis entertained at dinner last evening in honor of Hon. Maude Paucetote, daughter of the late ambassador from Great Britain, who is the guest of Mrs. Townsend. The guests went later to the Benedictines' cotillon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Elsemann, of M street, celebrated their eighteenth wedding anniversary last evening with a family gathering. Dancing, vocal, and instrumental music were enjoyed until a late hour, when supper was served. The decorations of the dining room were in red and green. The guests were Mrs. L. Somers, Mr. and Mrs. S. Young, J. Somers, and wife, A. Somers, Mr. and Mrs. E. Somers, Mrs. B. Elsemann, A. Elsemann, L. Elsemann, and a number of little folks.

HASLAM'S DEATH

COMES SUDDENLY

GEORGE THOMAS HASLAM

Pension Office Clerk Is Victim of Bright's Disease.

George Thomas Haslam, a first class clerk in the Pension Office, died at his residence, 1614 North Capitol street, yesterday after a short illness of Bright's disease. He was forty-six years old. Mr. Haslam was a native of Pennsylvania, and was educated in the public and high schools of Philadelphia, where he spent the early years of his life. He completed his academic and literary education in the University of Pennsylvania, graduating with distinction by a large class. Later he located in this city, and graduated in the National University law class of '84, and for a short time followed the practice of his profession in Washington. He had been a resident of this city for over thirty years.

Mr. Haslam's business career in Washington commenced in the Government Printing Office, where he worked as a compositor with Gen. George H. Harries, now vice president of the Washington Railway and Electric Company, the two forming a friendship that has lasted over a quarter of a century.

Later he left the Government Printing Office and accepted a position as examiner in the Interior Department Land Office, and from that office went to the Pension Office, where he has been engaged for a number of years, winning promotion from time to time until he held one of the most important positions of trust in the Pension Office. Mr. Haslam was a communicant of St. Anthony's Church, and was prominently identified with all the charitable work of that congregation. He was also an active member of the Knights of Columbus.

On October 27, 1896, he married Miss Mary Herold, daughter of George W. Herold, of this city.

He is survived by his wife and one son, Harold. The funeral services will be held at the family residence at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. Requiem high mass will be celebrated at St. Anthony's Church by the Rev. Father Francis McCarthy at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. The interment will be private in St. Mary's cemetery.

Hold Officers at Bay

To Finish Breakfast;

Desperadoes Give Up

Utica the Scene of Exciting Incident in Round-Up of Youthful Robbers, Who Later Confess to Scores of Crimes.

UTICA, N. Y., Jan. 22.—After holding a score of policemen at bay for more than an hour today two young desperadoes, Howard Eastwood, aged twenty-three years, and Thomas Corbett, aged nineteen years, surrendered, but not until they had eaten their breakfast while keeping the officers off at the point of their revolvers.

Their capture was an exciting close to a two weeks' story of burglaries and hold-ups which have terrorized the city of Utica.

Early today Eastwood and Corbett entered a haberdashery store and held up the proprietor, who chased them through the streets. One of the robbers fired his revolver and struck a passerby in the leg. The robbers were traced to a room in East Utica. The police surrounded the place and ordered the men to surrender. Eastwood's wife arose and made breakfast while the two robbers threatened death to anyone who approached the door.

When the highwaymen finished their breakfast they unlocked the door and invited the officers to enter and have breakfast. Eastwood and Corbett confessed to a score of robberies and hold-ups. Corbett comes from Louisville, Ky. Eastwood is a native of Utica.

REPORT DEFECTIVE

SCHOOL CHILDREN

Commissioners Ready to Make Provisions For Their Care.

The Commissioners were advised this morning by William W. Connor, secretary of the Board of Education of the District of Columbia, that at a recent meeting that body entered an order requesting the Commissioners to instruct the medical inspectors of the public schools, to investigate and report on the defective children in the graded schools, so that the board could make provisions for the proper care of such children. The matter was referred to Dr. W. C. Woodward, health officer, who advises the Commissioners that his department complied with the regulation that requires teachers to bring to the attention of the Health Department children suffering with any defect or disease requiring medical attention. He further says if it is the wish of the Board of Education to have all the pupils of the public schools examined, that if he is so advised, he will start the inspection of the schools. But that owing to the small number of inspectors and the large number of pupils the work will require considerable time.

JUSTICE STAFFORD'S ADDRESS.

FLAMES DESTROY

RAILROAD'S COAL

Pennsylvania Loses $200,000 When Canton, Md., Pier Burns.

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 22.—The coal pier of the Pennsylvania railroad at Canton was destroyed by fire at 4:25 o'clock this morning. The damage will amount to over $200,000, probably covered by insurance.

A three-masted schooner, belonging to the Palmer Freight line, was burned to the water line.

DEATH OF MRS. DUEHAY.

LIFE-LONG RESIDENT HERE

No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral of Mrs. Pauline Duehay, who died yesterday in her home, 1215 Vermont avenue. Mrs. Duehay was the wife of Alexander Duehay and before her marriage was Miss Pauline Harley. She was a native of Virginia, but had spent nearly all her life in Washington. Mrs. Duehay was seventy years old and had been ill many months. She is survived by her husband and four children.

WINTER TORNADO

SWEEPS OKLAHOMA

Houses and Barns Torn From Foundations; Several Persons Hurt.

BLACKWELL, Ont., Jan. 22.—A mid-winter tornado hit this city last night, blowing houses and barns from their foundations, totally demolishing a number of buildings and injuring several people. It was accompanied by an electrical display and rain storm which swelled creeks and rivers and washed away railway bridges. The residence of George E. Benson was overturned, pinning Mr. and Mrs. Benson under the building and injuring them severely. It was two hours before they could be released. George Ritz and Lewis Jordan were caught in the ruins of a barn and severely injured. The store building of a Mr. Davis was demolished. The storm raised the stream, washing out 300 feet of railroad track. The railroad bridge at Bokos was swept away and the Santa Fe track between Nordin and Deer creek is out of service.

RECLUSE JONES' KIN

CANNOT BE LOCATED

Efforts of the police to find any trace of the relatives of Isaac S. Jones, the aged recluse found dead, have been without avail.

Cities in New Jersey and Kansas have been communicated with, and this morning Major Sylvester received the following dispatch from the chief of police of Parsons, Kan.:

"Isaac S. Jones has no relatives in Kansas. No one here knows anything concerning him. Mr. Jones was a recluse and never mentioned his relatives."

From this message it is evident that he lived in Parsons at one time, but kept to himself just as he did in this city.

The following telegram was received from Lancaster, Pa.:

"We are unable to find Miss Stord or any relatives of Isaac Jones."

The body is still at the morgue.
